FIRE SCENE — Neighbors are pictured searching through the still-smoldering ruins of the Leona Snyder home on Rt. 164 near Lisbon where the 80-year-old, nearly-blind woman perished when her home burned to ground this morning. They found her body shortly before noon. Cause of fire is undetermined.

Welles' Broadcast Panicked America 25 Years Ago

LONDON (AP)-Orson Welles choked back a chuckle and said he has not the slightest regret for his Martian invasion radio drama that panicked Americans 25 years ago tonight. "Looking back I wouldn't change a thing," the actor, now 48, told an interviewer.

Six million Americans heard Welles' broadcast of "The War of the Worlds" on Oct. 30, 1938 and one million were disturbed, researchers found.

It began at 8 p.m. on the CBS Sunday night "Mercury Theat-er of the Air." Interspersing H.G. Wells' 40-year-old fantasy with realistically styled news bulletings, the Mercury players created this scene:

Flaming objects landed in New Jersey. "Things" emerged. As tall as skycrapers, they waded the Hudson River to destroy New York. A mysterious Martian ray dealt instant death.

With Nazi Germany nibbling at the Sudetenland and America jangled by European war nerves, newspapers and radio stations were flooded by calls from frightened listeners.

A Pittsburgh man found his wife in the bathroom, hysterically grasping a bottle of poison and crying, "I'd rather die this en other municipal contests which have failed to arouse much enthusiasm among the electorate due, principally, to the absence of specific campaign issues.

Mayor Dean B. Cranmer, now completing his fourth term, is opposed by Nathan Harris, Republican and a printshop operator who is making his first political venture. Cranmer has been an aggressive mayor and his experience and adminsitrative ability outweighs the qualifications of his opponent, although Mr. Harris would probably grasp the reins in due time and work closely with City Council. Our recommendation, however, is Mr. Cranmer. Our other recommendations are:

President of Council: Either Rudolph M. Linder, Republican, or Ford Joseph, Jr., Democrat, would be efficient on the job. Mr. Linder by virtue of six years as a ward councilman and six earlier years as council clerk and Mr. Joseph on the basis of one term now being successfully completed as Council president.

Auditor: Helen R. Coyne, Republican, who for 20 years has been safety-service department clerk and city auditor.

Treasurer: Either George C. Equizi, Republican, or Donald H. Mathews, Jr. The former is an assistant cashier at the Far-

> Council-at-Large: John E. Rance, Republican incumbent; Ralph K. Zimmerman, Republican who is present 4th Ward councilman; James Aldom, Democrat incumbent, and Joyce S. Wilson, Republican, although only three councilmen-at-large are to be named. Wilson is a newcomer who has evinced genuine interest in community matters. Rance, Zimmerman and Aldom, on the otherhand, are dedicated veteran legislators.

First Ward: Albert Lesch, Democrat, on the basis of experience and service to his Third Ward: Either Harold J. Astry, Democrat incumbent, or Thomas B. Smith, Republican. Astry is the veteran member of City Council who has distinguished himself with unselfish service in various committee roles, but his challenger, Mr. Smith, is highly qualified through similar service as a ward commissioner near Pittsburgh where he previously resided. He studied municipal government in college.

Fourth Ward: Michael Schuller, Republican, who served three terms in Salem City Council and one as president.

Perhaps he can. But there is one enormous difference between the situation that confronted the ten senator from Massachusetts in 1960 and the circumstances surrounding Gov. Rockefeller as

There was no popular impetus behind John F. Kennedy in 1960. The job he tackled was to build up his candidacy from scratch. It was like building a movie starlet into a star.

In 1964 there is phenomenal popular impetus behind Barry Goldwater, so much so he is puzzled. The problem in his case is not how to build him up but how to keep his popular appeal from setting off a political rout.

The political experts are afraid the people will break away and force the nomination of someone who satisfies them, for a change. The experts can think of a dozen reasons Sen. Goldwater should not be nominated, but they doubt if they can get the people to agree with them.

Hag-Ridden by Politics

Some of the finest people we've ever known have worked and are working now for the Ohio Department of Highways.

We want to make this plain before commenting of the state's "Little Hoover" commission observation that the department needs a shakeup.

It is not the personnel who are at fault. It is the fact the Ohio Department of Highways has been hag-ridden by politics since the memory of Buckeyes runneth not to the contrary.

It is the fact this free-spending, heavybiring department is a ready-made political apparatus, useful for patronage-dispensing and public influence.

It is the established practice in the state to bestow highway construction money on a squeaking-wheel basis - not infrequently where the administration that controls the pursestrings figures it needs to build the fanciest fences for the next election.

IN EVERY campaign there arises sooner or later a scandal about misuse of highway

You're In Charge

Local officials and administrative officers in other nearby communities have issued new warnings against out-of-town solicitors, some of whom are seeking gullible, unsuspecting customers.

If a caller at your door can't produce a city license it's time to notify the police. If you're "taken," you've no one to blame but yourself. It's another instance where the responsibility rests with the individual householder. That's you.

personnel and equipment for partisan purposes. In every division throughout the state there is at least one political officer - a "party commissar," American style. This functionary knows nothing about highways, but he's a whiz at politics.

The "Little Hoover" commission report says more than $15 million could be saved if this and some other bazz-fazz were taken out of Ohio highway actiivty and hints that incalculable increases of benefts would accrue to taxpayers of Ohio if the department were shaken up thoroughly.

. No one who knows what happens will question this, but on the other hand, no one who knows why it happens will feel optimistic about reform. Both parties have milked the Department of Highways like a political cow. They have put key jobs on a patronage basis. They have levied on the payroll for campaign funds. They would regard reform as akin to signing away their right to breathe in and out. To suggest that it could be done by executive order and requires no new laws is like telling rabbits to swear off lettuce and carrots.

IT IS fascinating to dream about what could be done if all Ohio highways were planned, built and maintained by highway engineers - no politics in any way, shape, or form.

It might happen someday.

Rabbits might give up lettuce and carrots someday too - but they'll never do it voluntarily.

Someone will have to build a fence around the goodies and keep the gate shut.

". . . Maybe if we stop using this Madison Avenue jargon, I could understand what we're tryin' to do!"

The Mafia's Armies

By VICTOR RIESEL

One of the most dramatic revelations of Joe (The Informer) Valachi is the enormous size of the Mafia's underworld armies in the nation's big cities. These "troops' or "soldiers" and their "lieutenants" and higher officers total close to a hundred thousand men. This is the conclusion drawn from talks with Valachi by those who watched him identify hundreds of photos (mug shots). He worked accurately and swiftly and at times appeared to have a camera for a

In New York City alone, Valachi estimated, there are at least 5,000 Cosa Nostra men. About half are active. The others are retired, aging or ill. It's the largest of the underworld crime syndicate forces. Others are scattered across the country but are mostly concentrated east of the Mississippi or in communities along that river.

Valachi was asked how such forces could be supported.

There are of course, narcotics, gamrling, vice and invasion of unions. But there is also a dangerously steady infiltration of legitimate business. troit alone Based on its own investigations, the Justice Department has concluded that the most deeply infiltrated types of legitimate businesses are: the garment industry, bowling alleys, liquor wholesaling, real estate, juke boxes, vending machines and restaurants.

OTHER SOURCES believe there is considerable investment in motels, linen supplies, food processing, transport and export. There also are investments in small steel fabricating mills, in mines and even in shirmp boating and on Wall Street.

Real estate is divided into two areas: the buying and selling of land which includes acreage for cotton raising and cattle breeding; and the investment in residential and commercial buildings.

In one big Eastern city, the estimate is that the crime syndicates own at least 60 buildings including some skyscrapers.

Thus it's not only in small bars and restaurants that the "bosses of bosses" put their friends and "troops."

How widespread this invasion is no one yet knows. Reports now are being compiled. One witness testified, at the McClellan committee hearings on Oct. 10, that the underworld was in 98 legitimate businesses in De- courage to stand up? And some

It will take a long time for a full inventory of mob money for the sums are vast and widely dispersed In many cities the mob seeks out the small businessman. There are spot-

THEY LOOK for the proprietor who can't defend himself, or who needs money, or who is in a vulneable position, such as barbers, beauty parlor operators, small furniture shop or restaurant owners. Then the "soldiers" move in.

I discussed this the other day with Jerry Adlerman, the Senate committee's chief counsel. He has done a prodigious job -while standing on a tightrope, balanced between the urgency of alerting the nation and the need for understatement, so Valachi would not leave the hearings as a Robin Hood clutching a movie contract.

"A lot of this infiltration," said Aderlman, "could not happen if management was not forced to bow to the mob's demands.

"The noods come to restaurants or bars, let us say, with their proposition to the owners to take the mob's linen supply service. The businessmen know of their solicitors reputationsand yield to their own fears.

How many people have the owners then ask themselves what difference it makes if or illegitimate."

This is just one type of operation. The Justice Department has hundreds and is probing many of them.

FOR EXAMPLE, one Brooklyn, New York, furniture dealer was selected for the touch by one mob. The partners were threatened. One was beaten. Soon they sought protection but not from the police. The owners were told of another racketeer who would become their "patron." He did. The beatings stopped.

But then the second crime chief declared himself their partner. He looted the business. Shortly, the place burned down under mysterious circumstances and $105,000 was collected in insurance. But not by the original, legitimate part-

Another crooked combine went into the stock market. It bought questionable stock. This raised the price artifically. Then a boiler room telephone soliciting system was set up and through high pressure work the stock was unloaded - at a one million dellar profit.

These are just a few of the mob techniques. It takes many businesses to support the many Mafia armies. But they do pretty well.

Johnson Purge?

While everybody is assuming that President Kennedy will be renominated, there are persistent reports in Washington that

Lyndon Johnson may not be on the D e m ocratic ticket as the vice - presidential nomi-

Cognizance has been taken of such re-David Lawrence ports in Texas, where Gov. John Connally was quoted in a United Press International dispatch a few days ago as saying: The Democrats want to win the 1964 elections and they might insure a loss if they drop the vice president." Then came an Associated Press report of a speech in Baltimore by Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-K., in which he

"There are some funny things going on in Washington. The secretary of the Navy (Fred Korth) left town rather hurriedly. Lyndon Johnson's boy, Bobby Baker (former secretary of the Senate majority), resigned. Now I wonder if Lyndon is epecting the purge.

The subject came up first at the President's news conference on May 9, 1962. The question asked was:

"There have been rumors in print in and out of Texas that Vice President Johnson might be dropped from the Democratic ticket in 1964. I would like to ask: Do you have any reason whatever to believe that either end of the Democratic ticket will be different from 1960?"

THE ANSWER by the President was: "Well, I don't know about what they will do with me, but I'm sure that the vice president will be on the ticket if he chooses to run. We were fortunate to have him before would again. I don't know where such a rumor could start.

"He is invaluable. He fulfills a great many responsibilities as vice president, participates in all the major deliberations. He has been in the Congress for years.

"He is invaluable. So, of

By DAVID LAWRENCE course, he will be, if he chooses to be, part of the ticket."

But the question has continued to provoke discussion on Capitol Hill. It's possible, of course, that renewal of the talk now is in some way a result of the "Bobby" Baker episode, since it is known that the man who is being investigated was, in his recent post, a protege and associated of the vice president.

There isn't any basis, however, for assuming that Mr. Johnson himself is involved in any of the matters on which a Senate inquiry is being conducted.

The cause of the speculation is doubtless political. Some of the celebraties in the Democratic party would like to be considered for the vice - presidential nomination. The first objective, of course, is to create an impression that there may be a vacancy in that spot.

Lyndon Johnson was named originally because it was figured that he would help to retain the Southern electoral votes not only due to his leanings toward the conservative side but on the assumption that he would be closer to the civil rights position of the South than any other nominee and would thereby help the Kennedy ticket.

TIMES HAVE changed. The South is headed away from the Democrats and toward Goldwater. Also, Vice President Johnson has supported the Kennedy administration policies 100 per cent and is campaigning for them constantly, whether it be on civil rights or any other domestic as well as foreign policy issues.

The opposition to Lyndon Johnson probably stems from the so-called "liberal" wing of the party, which wants a man from the North who can help to satisfy its particular point of view.

The person most often mentioned is Sen Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, who, it will be recalled, engaged in a few primary contests with Sen. Kennedy in 1960 for the Democratic presdential nomination.

Incidentally, there has been some talk about Attorney General Kennedy being selected for the second place on the ticket but this idea has been abandoned by its enthusiastic proponents, who now see Bobby Kennedy as a possible manager of the national campaign. This would necessitate his resignation from the Department of Justice, and it has been said in some circles here that Jan. 1 is the date tentatively selected for his withdrawal from the Cabinet.

of affairs and hardly beneficial to his own political future unless, of course, he expects to come back to the Cabinet in the post of secretary of state.

This also has been rumored as possible if Dean Rusk should succeed Adlai Stevenson some day as American ambassador to the United Nations.

Much of the Washington talk and gossip reflects wishful thinking on the part of those who would like to displace Lyndon Johnson as vice president. Notwithstanding the rumors, political experts generally believe that the Democratic ticket will be the same in 1964 as it was THIS SEEMS an unlikely turn in 1960 and that the attorney general will not give up his post as head of the Department of Justice.

Robert Kennedy is expected to stay in the Cabinet and try for the presidency in 1965 if his brother is reelected next year.

Ann Landers Answers

Dear Ann Landers: The best way I know to get a problem before the public is to write to Ann Landers I hope you'll print my letter and perhaps spare other couples the grief my daughter and son-in-law are now going through.

After seven childless years our daughter and son-in-law became discouraged and decided to adopt. They were interviewed by three agencies and told to "be patient." Their patience wore thin after two years so my daughter was understandably receptive to the suggestion of a friend who had gotten two gray market babies and was delighted with them.

My daughter's husband agreed to go the gray market route and two months later they received a beautiful little girl. She was the light of their lives for 10 glorious months.

Last May the baby's natural mother turned up at their front door and demanded her child. She claimed she was irrational when she agreed to sell her baby to "that crook of a lawyer." I'll skip the details, but my daughter and son-in-law were taken into court and they lost.

The nursery door now is locked and theirs is the saddest home I've ever seen. They are paying dearly for their mistake. Please print this, Ann.—SHAT-TERED GRANDMOTHER.

Dear Grandmother: Yours is not the first such letter that has appeared in this column, but it is worth repeating. Thank you for writing. And again, let's hope this serves as a deterrent to childless couples who are tempted to take a short cut.

Loused-Up Life

Dear Ann What's the matter with me? I go from one miserable affair to another. I'll tell you my story briefly and maybe you can help. I quite school at 16 to marry a foreigner who was 33. My mother thought he had money. She was right-but I couldn't get my hands on it. The marriage lasted six months. I went with another man who fooled me for two years before I learned he was married and had four kids. The next fellow was married but said his divorce would be coming through "any day." I got disgusted after 15 months and left town to go live with my cousin and her husband. Her husband and I fell in love. My cousin found out about it and threw me out of the house. Now I'm back in this miserable town and my reputation is mud. Why am I so loused up? Please help me.-HARD LUCK LIZ.

Dear Liz: It's not your luck that's hard-it's your head. Move to a city where no one knows you Resolve to go with only respectable people. Join church groups and clubs where decent people meet. Dear Ann: A friend of ours who is in the funeral business has a habit which annoys me terribly If you tell me he is right I will apologie to him.

wood. One does not introduce a dentist as "Dr. Fransworth, doctor of dental surgery," or "Dr. Rosenheim, doctor of philosophy"-not that it would be incorrect, but because it would be awkward.

Dr. Brandstadt It is found in every state of the United States and in Canada. It is transmitted to animals by ticks, deer flies, fleas and lice. Although human beings have been known to acquire the disease in this way, they usually get it by direct contact—that is by hand-ling carcasses of infected ani-

The germ of tularemia is especially dangerous because it is one of the few germs that can apparently penetrate the unbroken skin. It is not necessary to have a cut or bruise for this organism to get into your blood and lymph channels. The meat of an infected animal should not be eaten. It is true that thorough cooking will destroy the germs, yet many cases of tularemia have resulted from eating undercooked meat from an infected animal.

TULAREMIA HAS even been incurred by splashing infected blood or contaminated rinse water into the eyes or wiping the eyes with a towel that has become contaminated.

A hunter must always be suspicious of game that is too easy to bag. The animal may be sick. When in doubt put on gloves and open the abdomen. Find the liver and examine it for light colored lumps that are about the size of match heads.

If you are so unfortunate as to pick up this infection, there will be a waiting or incubation period of three to seven days then you may get what appears to be a severe case of influenza with sudden chills, fever, headache, weakness and aching joints. There may also be swelling and soreness of the lymph nodes in the region of the poir/ where the germs first gained entrance into the body.

SINCE THE ADVENT of antibiotics, your doctor is able to do much more for the victims of this disease than formerly,

BUGS BUNNY

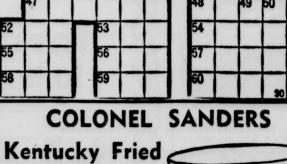

I just received some very good news-One of my customers was telling me he has been making a survey on food prices at our store and at another where he used to do all his buying.

He has kept very accurate records and finds he saves about $4.00 each week by shopping here at the Country Store.

We know our customers get a lot for their money but we do not dwell on low prices a lot because we are not looking for a lot of bargain hunters but rather nice people who appreciate

We think we have just about the nicest group of people that any store would have for customers.
